

Making Life Easier

THERE is one phrase that has caused more than its fair share of trouble over the years, and it is that fairy story favourite, 'Happily Ever After'. Every child gets used to it and grows up in the belief that there will come a point when all of life's problems and difficulties just melt away – and it will be plain sailing from now on.

Of course, in real life – as opposed to fairy story life – different challenges appear at different times. Some you can cope with using your own resources but for others, you need a degree of help – which is where the companies highlighted today in the Glamorgan Star can offer assistance.

This four-page feature is called 'Making Life Easier' and that is just what the companies included can do for you – whether you need health care, legal advice, general assistance or a general boost to your sense of wellbeing, you will find ideas and expertise in these pages.

Marina can treat your hearing problems

It is perhaps easy to take our ears for granted, often not paying them too much attention until a hearing problem begins to affect our wellbeing.

For audiologist Marina Storina, founder of Clear Hearing Solution and Director of Well-being, Hearing and Balance Clinic, treating hearing issues goes far beyond understanding the mechanics of the ear. She firmly believes our hearing gives us an emotional connection to the world and the people around us, as well as improving our quality of life and the lives of others.

Moscow-born Marina studied at Swansea University where she earned a BSc in Audiology and completed further MSc training in treating advanced balance disorder and auditory rehabilitation. After working in the NHS for over 14 years, she decided to start her own practice.

Clear Hearing Solution moved into Goodsheds on the Barry waterfront in September 2020 and has developed a loyal client base throughout the Vale of Glamorgan and beyond.

Marina offers a range of treatments including micro-suction for infections and blockages, hearing aids, balance rehabilitation, tinnitus as well as specialist glue ear treatment for children. For Marina, helping patients accept hearing loss is an important part of the relationship between audiologist and patient. A pleasing aspect of the work at the clinic is the number of extremely positive comments from patients praising the care and attention they received during their consultations and procedures:

1: "Marina demonstrated excellent knowledge and understanding of my issues, which made me feel relaxed and confident I was in safe hands."

2: "I took my 13-year-old son to Marina for micro-suction. She was amazing with him and made him feel at ease."

3: "Best £65 I've ever spent. I would definitely recommend her"

Meanwhile, Clear Hearing Solution is about to embark on an interesting new development as Marina is in the process of planning to fund a charity project designed to provide free hearing care for children. It's going to prove an interesting time for the company so please watch this space.
